Meeting with Tamilnadu Chief Minister and Requesting *Excavate a new Archaeological site Nathammedu in Theni District.

Lieutenant Dr. S. Rajagopal and Dr. R. Praiya, Assistant Professors Department of History, Mannar Thirumalai Naicker College conducted a field study and they have discovery an Unexcavated Archaeological settlement a Nathammedu in between Rosanapatti and Pradukkarnapatti villages under Thirumalapuran Panchayat in Aundipatti Taluk, Theni district. In the surrounding of Nathammedu the glittering artefacts and objects found. So many small size stone wet grinder, ammikal, decorated polished potteries, huge broken potteries, flint stones, metal coins (by local villagers) and partially melted iron ore were discovered. Potteries are red and black colour and much thicker in size. Some decorated potteries and graffiti marks are also found in the field visit. It is believed that it may be a Sangam ancient site. Also destroyed conditions, so many poor and partially white stone sculptures are found at Nathammedu unexcavated site which is belonging to second half of 8th Century in first Pandya period. But no temple stone structure was observed. However, recently some female goddess's broken head was placed in a basement and called Nachiyar Temple. A 4 feet height Buddha stone statue also found in this site. As per Dr. C. Santhalingam, a retired Tamilnadu State Archaeology Department, has very clearly says that the 'statue of Buddha was vital evidence to understand the occurrence of Buddhism in the southern part of Tamilnadu during 10th C.E' So in this unexcavated site Buddha statue may be in 10th C.E. Also, two new inscriptions discovered around the site in June 2020 and it says about land donation which means it belongs to the 13th century later Pandya period. So, this unexcavated site since Sangam period onwards may be present and due to unknown reason, this site's resident people were left the area. Therefore, it is finally come to consequences of this site continually living site/active site since Sangam period to till date. Regarding this new site excavation both professors gave a brief description a booklet has handover to Honorable Chief Minister of Tamilnadu Thiru MK Stalin on 30 April 2022 in Vaigai Dam, Theni. Both Professors requested to Chief Minister of Tamilnadu conduct excavation at this Nathammedu atleast 5 to 10 trenches. It may be similar to Keeladi, Konthagai, Agaram, Manalur and will reveal more information of Tamilaham history within one meter of the site. Also, Nathammedu site update history to the people. Also, both professors assured their willingness and ready to extend full cooperation in the event of an excavation at this site and make every effort to uncover the historical truth. Regarding this, they also Met with Theni District Collector Thiru Muralidharan regarding excavation at Archaeological settlement Nathammedu on 14 May 2022 District Collector also visited the site with both professors and other officials on 15 May 2022.
